Hajjul Ikram

Web Developer

West Aceh Regency, Aceh, Indonesia

Summary

I am currently an undergraduate student majoring in Information Technology at Teuku Umar University. My primary interest lies in the field of Web Development, with a particular focus on Front-End development. Over the past few years, I have dedicated my time to acquiring the skills necessary to excel in this domain. Throughout my journey, I have successfully completed several small-scale projects, which have further fueled my passion for web development. Now, I am excited to embrace new challenges and expand my knowledge by delving into various aspects of this rapidly evolving field.
